

Welcome to All Souls Unitarian Church

We are a caring and inclusive spiritual community where we study, serve, and celebrate life. We like to say that we are the place "Where Reason and Religion Meet" in Indianapolis. We explore and encourage the spiritual growth of all seekers who join us, provide religious education from cradle to grave, and empower members to engage in work for social justice. We invite you to come to our worship services at 10:30 on Sunday morning and to attend any of our many activities during the week.

All Souls Unitarian Church was founded on October 18, 1903, when a group of prominent leaders in the town of Indianapolis, under the guidance of the Rev. Elmer Newbert, was accepted into the American Unitarian Association. In the ensuing 118 years, this congregation has enjoyed five long ministries, indicating how solid its foundation was from the very beginning. It is now moving through a two-year transition toward its seventh fully-settled minister and looks forward to a long and fruitful future.

During this time of transition, under the leadership of the Rev. Dr. Gretchen Woods, all the doors and windows have been thrown open to exploration of new approaches to our continued journey in our search for truth and meaning. Come and be a part of this exciting time at All Souls Unitarian Church.
